Successes

The Village of Fairport, NY needed basic tree care training for their municipal and utility staff. Urban Forestry, LLC designed a one day training program on basic tree pruning practices, and training and caring for young trees. The program included four hours of classroom education in the morning and three hours of hands on pruning of young trees on a Village street. Participants were also given a laminated/glove box sized basic tree care guide with illustrations and basic instructions. The Village staff performs a variety of duties, the guide is designed to give them an easily accessible, quick reference of proper tree care practices when they need it.

Urban Forestry, LLC provides the highest quality, most cost efficient and responsive tree management services available. Please call us if we can be of assistance.
